

GOVERNMENT LITIGATION

The firm has represented municipalities and other governmental entities throughout South Florida for more than 40 years, handling everything from personal injury and wrongful death actions to civil rights claims involving alleged police misconduct and challenges to municipal ordinances and zoning decisions. Clients include individual governmental employees, administrators, and officials as well as the agencies they serve.

Those attorneys who specialize in this area have demonstrated a comprehensive mastery of the complexities of sovereign immunity that has resulted in a significant number of summary judgments for governmental clients to eliminate the substantial expenses and risks of trial. The firm's representation of its governmental clients has resulted in important appellate decisions which have expanded the availability of sovereign immunity to bar claims against governmental entities.
